The company has already entered into alliance with cement major ACC BSE -1.48 % for equity participation for the expansion. ACC currently holds 14.5 per cent share in the company.

"ACC's major investment is going to come in phase II. But we are expecting some equity infusion even in the phase I, but these things are yet to be discussed," Gupta said.

He said out of the Rs 270 crore investment for the phase I, promoters have already pumped in Rs 30 crore. The company has tied up for Rs 170 crore as term loan and the balance will be contributed by ACC as well as the promoters.

"Financial closure for the first phase is expected to be achieved by June after which the work will commence," he said.

Gupta further said that in the second phase, since ACC would be infusing a significant amount in expansion, its stake holding is likely to go up to 25 per cent.

"Takeover by ACC will be a win-win situation for both the companies. We have a good amount of limestone deposits and we are further looking at acquiring more mines. Once we get them, we will be able to increase our capacity to over 5 mtpa. This will make ACC's position in the eastern market even stronger," Gupta added.
